

Whole Blood Program

Considering Starting A Whole Blood Program?

Trauma is the leading cause of death for patients under 46 years old, and uncontrolled hemorrhage remains the number one cause of preventable death in trauma. Trauma resuscitation management has evolved over the years with a more nuanced understanding of the injured patient's physiologic state of shock. In traumatically injured patients, whole blood administration initiated in the prehospital setting may improve early shock severity, coagulopathy, and survival when used over traditional resuscitation fluids such as crystalloid administration or component therapy.
